Dil Se दिल से From the heart : Collecting Akbar Dams

I was always a collector ...

In my youth, I started collecting coins from the country I grew up in, Belgium. My father gifted me my first gold coin from the reign of Leopold II (Lot 493), whilst I was proud to complete his set of large 5F silver pieces (Lots 474-487).

When I emigrated to South Africa, age 19, my mother also gave me a gold coin – a Kruger Rand (Lot 495), a full ounce of gold – for an emergency, she said. And when my maternal grandfather passed away I inherited a few small gold coins from the US (Lots 501-03). He was not a collector so I never found out how he got them ...

I learned to appreciate the difference between the value of the metal and the quality and rarity value of an old coin – some of my most valuable Belgian coins were small denomination copper coins ... and the Kruger Rand is famous for having one of the lowest premiums over the value of the metal.

Then work and family made my collecting hobby take a back seat until my work brought me to India ... I decided that to get to know the history of this fascinating country, I could pick up my old hobby again.

I remember at a coin fare in Chennai coming across a mohur of the Mughal ruler Mohammed Shah. I had met Rohit C. Shah, a collector in Hyderabad who had sold me my first Mughal silver coins and he helped me decide to acquire my first mohur.

Later, I got my one and only Akbar mohur at an auction and I learned to appreciate the added value of knowing the provenance of very old and valuable coins.

By now I had decided that I needed to narrow my focus. I had started with the Mughals but now I decided to focus on Akbar only and more specifically his dams.

These were at times hard to decipher and so my wife - who can read Urdu and studied Persian, started to help me out. What a fun that was!!

One day I put a largish bid on an unusual Dam, having noticed that one of the world authorities – a Dutch gentleman I had got to know – put an image on the Zeno database. When I woke up the next morning, a sizeable chunk of the money my wife gave me – having “consolidated” some jewellery – the proud owner of a very rare Dam. I learned only four pieces were known and mine was one of the best in quality terms too (Lot 279). As a result I visited the Ashmolean Museum in Oxford (UK) and was shown their collection of Akbar coins by the “keeper of the coins” himself ... And so I slowly made friends among like-minded collectors – like the “king of copper coins” in Delhi.

I was eagerly awaiting the book Nilesh Gada and Dr Dilip Rajgor were working on and thrilled to get an autographed copy of Corpus of Mughal Coins of India, Volume 1 for my birthday.

When I got married, I had chosen the name of Akbar, because I was intrigued by his attempt at unifying the different religions under the Ilahi creed. It was interesting to see how he changed the traditional coin design and dates in support of ‘marketing’ this message. Not an easy task it proved – judging by the responses of the different mints in terms of when or whether they adopted Ilahi designs.

As I approach retirement and knowing that Indian coins belong to India, especially the rare ones, I decided that now was the right moment of starting to practice detachment - वैराग्य Vairāgya ...

I have enjoyed getting to know so many interesting individuals and learning a little about Akbar’s history, through his coins.

I believe I have generally succeeded in choosing high quality specimens and hope you will enjoy collecting them as much as I have.

Let bidding be the ultimate judge...

Kalinga Collection of Ganesh Coins, Medals & Tokens (From Lot Nos. 505 to 700)

Lord Ganesha (Ganesh alias Ganapati), the revered deity in Hinduism, manifests as the remover of obstacles, symbolizing wisdom, prosperity, and auspicious beginnings. His distinct form, characterized by an elephant head atop a portly human body, encapsulates profound symbolism, emphasizing the integration of disparate elements to achieve harmony. Ganesha's broken tusk, a sacrifice made while scribing the Mahabharata, serves as a poignant reminder of the inherent value of self-sacrifice for a greater purpose. The selflessness embedded in Ganesha's act of sacrificing his tusk for the sake of preserving knowledge echoes a universal truth – that the journey toward wisdom often involves personal sacrifices.

Worship of Lord Ganesha precedes the commencement of any venture, illustrating his role as the patron of intellect and wisdom. Devotees invoke his blessings to attain success and seek his guidance to navigate life's myriad challenges. The mouse, Ganesha's vahana or vehicle, holds symbolic significance, representing the need to control one's desires and impulses in the pursuit of spiritual growth.

Beyond the realm of religious observance, Lord Ganesha's teachings offer profound insights into life's intricacies. His image serves as a beacon of hope, inspiring individuals to face obstacles with courage and resilience. The universal appeal of Ganesha lies in his capacity to embody qualities that resonate with the human experience, transcending doctrinal differences.

Ganesha's omnipresence in Hindu traditions positions him as a timeless archetype. His symbolism extends far beyond religious rituals, permeating cultural expressions and everyday life. In essence, Lord Ganesha becomes a guiding force, encouraging believers to approach challenges with a blend of wisdom, humility, and unwavering determination.

The image of Ganesha riding a mouse imparts a valuable lesson in humility and the need to master one's desires. The mouse, a creature often associated with desires and cravings, is placed under Ganesha's control. This symbolism encourages individuals to overcome their baser instincts and desires, recognizing the importance of mastering the self on the path to spiritual evolution.

In conclusion, Lord Ganesha stands as an enduring symbol, encompassing profound philosophical teachings and serving as a source of inspiration for millions. Whether worshipped for the removal of obstacles, sought for wisdom, or celebrated in cultural festivities, Ganesha's omnipresence reflects a universal archetype that transcends the boundaries of religious and cultural affiliations. His teachings resonate as timeless truths, offering guidance on navigating life's challenges with grace, resilience, and a spirit of selfless sacrifice.

It gives me immense pleasure cataloguing such a themed and beautiful collection built over the last 20 years and more. The collection comprising nearly 200 items contains many rarities including a complete run of ounce medallions issued by foreign mints such as Perth mint, Swiss mint, Royal mint etc. One common thread that runs through the collection is the beauty of each item. These are NOT the common Ganesha coins that one encounters at jewellers for Diwali gifts etc. The collection represents almost all famous Ganesha Pitha and Mandir of India. And last but not the least it contains many rare coins of Medieval South India. The collection is a treat for the eye. This is one of its kind collection to be featured in any Indian auction and I am sure it will be enjoyed by one and all.

Enjoy the Ganesha collection...
